ASSOCIATE OF ARTS IN TEACHING (AAT)
Bound up in the spirit of community and united in the cause of transitioning from Spanish to English, the Transitional Bilingual Learning Community is a dynamic cohort of Spanish-speaking students here at Truman College.

This program emphasizes a strong bond between students, a deeply involved faculty, and an overarching sense of community. The TBLC is a true learning community that utilizes the model of transitional bilingual education.

Students, who would normally be unable to enroll in credit classes because of their unfamiliarity with university-level English, are placed in credit-bearing classes that are taught in both English and Spanish by faculty members with years of experience and excellent academic credentials. The rate of transition is such that by the end of the second semester, almost all of the instruction is done in English.

Additionally, the TBLC offers four-semester scholarships for students who have a 3.0 GPA or 2600 GED score.

The goal of the TBLC is to ready Spanish-speaking students for participation in all-English college credit-bearing courses within two semesters. The courses count towards an Associate’s degree here at Truman College and are thus transferable to a four-year university. Naturally, TBLC students receive all the services that are offered to Truman students - tutoring, mentors, advising about careers and professions. They will also have the opportunity to obtain financial aid.

We offer the TBLC Academic Achievement Scholarship for students who can’t apply for Financial Aid. The scholarship covers two semesters of tuition (12 Credit Hours).
