The Wright College Criminal Justice Program involves the administration of criminal justice, contemporary policing and investigative arts, as well as exposure to the courts, corrections, and social aspects of modern criminology and police science. What makes this program exceptional is that most of our instructors not only possess higher education credentials, but are subject matter experts in the field as well. They are police officers, current and former senior command members, or attorneys who remain actively involved and maintain professional memberships in organizations within the field of criminology.
